

CHLORINATOR DESIGN

A chlorinator is installed as a tertiary treatment unit for a private sewage disposal system that discharges a treated effluent. The chlorinator is a vesicle for which to disinfect the effluent with chlorine. The chlorine (tablets) are held in the 3" piping and the holes in the cap allows disinfection as the treated effluent passes over and makes contact with the tablets.

